

GRAND JURY PROBES SHIP DISASTER

Reveal "Graft Taken For Granted" In Arms Sales

CURTISS CO. LETTERS ARE MADE PUBLIC

Disclose Company Planned to Offer Commissions to Mexico Chief Staff
HIGH OFFICERS NAMED
Agent Offers Sedan to Engineer of Shop to Get Switch on Engine Sales

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Curtiss-Wright Export corporation officials declared in 1933 that "graft" was "freely taken for granted" in Mexico, it was disclosed today at the senate munitions inquiry.

The Curtiss company manufactures planes and parts.

The company correspondence revealed, in July, 1933, it planned to offer a five per cent commission to Brig. Gen. Azcarate, then chief of staff to the president of Mexico and now military attaché at the embassy here.

Company officers told the senate committee that Azcarate operated a private airplane factory in Mexico. A letter from a company agent in Mexico on July 24, 1933, said:

"We understand from another source here that Azcarate always wants to be taken care of but is very careful about it and works through a third party."

Names of high Mexican officials were brought into the investigation along with those in half dozen other countries where the Curtiss company competed for sale of aircraft.

Lawrence Leon, one of the company's many Latin-American agents, wrote to his New York office on August 5, 1933, that Azcarate was "out for the Boeing company." Curtiss-Wright competitors.

Leon reported he had made a new "friend" for his firm—Col. Rodriguez Familiar, "a very close friend of the president and his protégé."

"There will be a lot of squabbling," Leon wrote, "but I believe the colonel will have his way in a few weeks time. I have never seen any country where graft is so freely taken for granted."

Leon's letter continued with a discussion about engine sales competition with the Pratt and Whitney company, and added he had promised a "sedan to the engineer in charge of the shops if he is successful in switching the initial orders to us."

TWA CARRIES FIGHT TO SUPREME COURT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Transcontinental and Western Air carried its fight against cancellation of airmail contracts by Postmaster General James H. Farley last February to the supreme court today.

The company applied for a review of the second circuit court of appeals ruling which upheld dismissal of the airlines action on the ground that the court had no authority to restrain Farley from the cancellation.

The suit was the first to be brought by affected airlines. It was instituted February 13, 1934 against Farley and Johnson J. Tiley, the New York city postmaster.

DIRIGIBLE MACON STARTS FOR SOUTH

SUNNYVALE, Sept. 11.—(UP)—The dirigible Macon soared away from her base here at 8:30 a. m. today, bound for San Diego.

The giant ship was expected to pass over Los Angeles about noon-time. Officers said she probably would moor in San Diego about 10 o'clock tonight.

The Macon returned from a flight to Sacramento early last night. She was not placed in her hangar, but tied to a mooring mast for the night. Officers said the San Diego trip was purely a training cruise, and that the ship probably would return to her base Thursday.

Marion Smith, Atlanta attorney, named one of committee of three by President Roosevelt for arbitration in the textile strike.

HARBOR WORK TO BE STARTED NEXT SATURDAY

First Load of Bottom Rock to Be Dumped as First Step in Project

THE FIRST carload of bottom rock to be used in extending jetties at the entrance to Newport Harbor will be dumped next Saturday morning, September 15, marking the long anticipated start of work on the $1,835,000 federal improvement project, it was learned here today. One barge-load of equipment had arrived at the harbor from San Pedro yesterday and was anchored off the west jetty in readiness for the start of work.

Jetties will be extended hundreds of feet into the ocean at a cost of more than half a million dollars, and will mark the first step in the improvement program mapped out for Newport Harbor. Bids for dredging of the channel and bay will be called this week by Major H. H. Stickney, U. S. district engineer in Los Angeles, it was expected.

City Engineer R. L. Patterson of Newport Beach stated yesterday that the start of work could not have come at a more propitious moment. More than seven million cubic yards of silt and material will be dredged from the harbor and deposited along a five-mile stretch of ocean front, helping to repair damages done in Newport-Balboa by rip tides and heavy seas that have harassed the area in the past two weeks. There is every possibility that the recent destruction of the city will construct groins at West Newport to hold the new beach, thus making a repetition of the recent destruction impossible.

Contracts for the jetty work were awarded to Rohl-Connolly company, of San Pedro, who are also building the Los Angeles breakwater. The Newport Harbor program calls for 526,740 tons of rock to be brought from Santa Catalina Island and San Clemente Island by barge. It will require 20 barges and seven tugs to keep the supply of rock moving to both San Pedro and Newport Harbor, it was stated.

SPANIARDS, CUBANS ORDERED TO TRIAL

HAVANA, Cuba, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Twenty-six persons charged with plotting against the life of United States Ambassador Jefferson Caffery were ordered brought to trial today in the court of instruction.

The defendants, 22 Spaniards and four Cubans, were arrested at a laborers' meeting in suburban Marianao last night after a raid by secret police culminated in the seizure of documents and communist literature.

Police did not explain the nature of the plot against the American representative.

Time Limit On Proposal Ends Today

Union Leaders Issue Warning Responsibility is Up to Operators

(Copyright, 1934, by United Press)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Union leaders warned today that beginning tomorrow they would refuse to accept responsibility for further violence in the textile strike which has brought troops out in five states.

"Violence is worse today than it has been before and it is going to get worse," Strike Chairman Francis J. Gorman said. "If it continues after tonight, that is not our fault. We have made our peace proposal."

The proposal called for closing all mills while President Roosevelt's board mediates the strike.

Gorman said the 24 hour extension of the time limit on the union arbitration proposal would lapse definitely at 5 p. m. today.

National guardsmen were out in Rhode Island, Maine, Connecticut, South and North Carolina as Gorman issued his challenge. Sporadic rioting broke out in strike centers from New England southward. Incendiary sabotage occurred in Rhode Island. Several score pickets were injured or wounded in melees with police.

Gorman said a "group of public spirited citizens in Washington" has completed plans for a relief program throughout the strike area. He refused to identify relief leaders, but said they were acting as private citizens, in and out of labor circles.

"From almost the entire strike area we have reports of strikers shot, strikers beaten, and strikers cut by bayonets in the hands of nervous guardsmen," Gorman said. "The policies of management are bearing their fruits. Reports this morning alone demonstrate that the union was right in its demands that the mills must be closed while arbitration proceeds, if there is to be arbitration."

NATIONAL GUARD MOBILIZES IN R. I.

SAYLESVILLE, R. I., Sept. 11.—(UP)—National guardsmen were mobilized in strike-torn Rhode Island today after a riotous night of sabotage during which three pickets were shot and scores of other persons injured at the Sayles textile finishing plant here.

Saylesville, outstanding sore spot in the textile strike zone of the nation's smallest state, witnessed during the night unprecedented scenes of mob violence as hundreds of pickets, many from Massachusetts and Connecticut, attempted to set a $24,000,000 unemployment relief bond issue he approved and submitted to the November electorate.

This has been in the wind for months. Its sudden crystallization in the form of a special legislative call was termed by Meriam opponents as a smart political movement to overcome some of the popularity of Upton Sinclair's plan to aid the unemployed.

Meriam, however, pointed out that negotiations have been under way with federal relief authorities and that it was necessary for California to do her share before continued Washington support could be expected.

Funds Exhausted
California floated one unemployment relief bond issue of $20,000,000 in June, 1933. Practically all of that amount has been spent.

DEATH SHIP TRAILS ITS VICTIMS TO LAND

Like Nemesis relentlessly pursuing her victims, the Ward liner Morro Castle, which became a floating crematorium for scores of passengers and crew, trailed to shore the few who survived both fire and immersion in the turbulent Atlantic. Taken in tow by the Coast Guard Cutter Tampa, the Morro Castle broke free from the tow line and drifted onto the beach at Asbury Park, just a few miles from the spot where disaster overtook her. The fire-scared, smoldering hulk is shown as it wallowed in the shallow surf, a few yards from the beach on which some of its survivors landed.

STATE SOLONS MEET AT NOON ON WEDNESDAY

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 11.—(UP)—The California state legislature will convene in special session tomorrow for the purpose of considering measures to aid unemployed, tax delinquents and persons facing mortgage foreclosures.

The foremost item to be placed before the legislators will be Gov. Frank F. Merriam's recommendation that a $24,000,000 unemployment relief bond issue be approved and submitted to the November electorate.

This has been in the wind for months. Its sudden crystallization in the form of a special legislative call was termed by Meriam opponents as a smart political movement to overcome some of the popularity of Upton Sinclair's plan to aid the unemployed.

Meriam, however, pointed out that negotiations have been under way with federal relief authorities and that it was necessary for California to do her share before continued Washington support could be expected.

REORGANIZATION OF NRA IS PROGRESSING

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 11.—(UP)—President Roosevelt today reported progress in mapping out an NRA reorganization program with General Hugh S. Johnson, modeled after the structure of the federal government.

The summer White House revealed the men were formulating a three-point program under which they hope to guide the destinies of the gigantic recovery set-up. Under tentative plans the reorganization would include:

1—A judicial branch to have supervision in labor disputes now handled by code administrators.
2—An executive department charged with administrative work.
3—A legislative department charged with policy fixing.

REPUBLICAN HOPES DASHED AS MAINE BACKS NEW DEAL

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 11.—(UP)—Main Democrats, who tied their grip on two of the three congressional seats, and have a slight chance of winning a U. S. senatorial seat, nearly complete returns from yesterday's state election showed today.

Returns from all but 23 of the state's 631 precincts gave U. S. Sen. Frederick Hale, Republican seeking a fourth term, only a handful of votes as his margin over his Democratic opponent, F. Harold Dubord.

The vote stood:
Hale 137,986
Dubord 136,728

The wets' lead in the referendum on the question of repealing Maine's half-century-old dry law, which had fluctuated during the day, approximated 2 to 1 this afternoon.

BANK FAILURES IN NATION FOR PAST YEAR TOTAL FIVE

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 11.—(UP)—A bright picture of the banking situation was laid before President Roosevelt today by Leo Crowley, chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation who reported "at no time in the history of the country has the number of bank failures been so small as during the past year."

"Only five small insured banks have closed," he explained in a letter that surveyed the first year's activities of the corporation.

"Approximately 50,000,000 accounts are now insured," Crowley reported.

"The insurance plan fully protects more than 97 out of every 100 insured depositors. The maximum insurance for each depositor is $5000 although mutual savings banks have the option of carrying insurance to a maximum of either $2500 or $5000 for each depositor.

"More than 14,000 banks, or fully 90 per cent of all the licensed banking institutions in the country, have become members of the insurance fund. The total deposits in the insured commercial banks amount to more than $35,000,000,000. Deposits in these banks have increased about $4,500,000 during the past year.

"On July 1, 1934, a separate insurance fund was established for mutual savings banks. Seventy-one of these banks with deposits of more than $1,000,000,000 are now members of this fund."

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Mrs. Constance Kohler, 33, mother of five children, was held under guard in the county hospital today pending the investigation of the burning of her newly born baby with ammonia.

The woman insisted the burning was accidental, occurring just after the baby was born in the bathroom of her home.

TURNER SETS NEW SEATTLE-L. A. MARK

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 11.—(UP)—A new transport speed record between Seattle and Los Angeles was held jointly today by Col. Roscoe Turner, transcontinental record-holder, and Clyde Pangborn, who spanned the 1119 miles in 5 hours, 29 minutes for an average speed of 209.8 miles per hour.

EIGHT STATES VOTING TODAY IN PRIMARIES

(By United Press)
VOTERS OF eight states balloted in primary elections today, adding a variety of new deal tests to the first sampling of national opinion provided by Maine's traditional election yesterday. Administration forces proclaimed partial victory and complete vindication in Maine.

Today the polls were open in Arizona, Colorado, Louisiana, New Hampshire, Michigan, Vermont, Washington, and South Carolina. The South Carolina election was a runoff primary for governor, equivalent to election Georgia and Maryland primaries were set for tomorrow and New York goes to the polls Thursday.

Among the outstanding contests today are the fight of Sen. Huey Long's Louisiana machine against the New Orleans organization of Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley; that of Josephine Roche, liberal woman's leader for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in Colorado; the strong opposition being furnished the veteran Sen. Henry F. Ashurst of Arizona for renomination; and the South Carolina contest of former U. S. Sen. Cole Blaise and Olin D. Johnson, who lost to the polls Thursday.

The only reply he got was that there were no more passengers on that part of the deck and the captain had ordered Abbott suffering from smoke, to get the life boat.

Q—Did you have any difficulty with the crew?
A—No, not with my crew. My engine crew worshipped that ship. Not a person ever went into the engine room that failed to compliment us.

Q—What started the fire?
A—I cannot say. There was lightning that night. I have no opinion, however. It is too hard a problem. I don't know if it was set or not.

Q—Did you know of the supposed incendiary fire of August 11?
A—No, I did not.

OAKLAND, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Southern Pacific employees today blamed a motorist's apparent attempt to beat a train across a street intersection for the deaths of five persons in a grade crossing accident here.

The victims of last night's tragedy were R. J. Van Wyck, 52, of 2904 Adeline street, Berkeley; Mrs. Dagmar Van Wyck, 46, his wife; Ernest B. Perry, 50, of 1726 Prince street, Berkeley; Mrs. Ida Perry, 45, his wife; and Steven S. Jensen, of 1740 Grant street, Berkeley.

PASSENGER CLAIMS NO FIRE ALARM

Inquiry Reveals Two Life Boats Carried 50 Crew and Only 3 Passengers

ENGINEER QUESTIONED

No Witness at Morning Session Able to Advance What Caused Fatal Fire

BULLETIN

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—(UP)—George Alagna, second radio officer of the Morro Castle, was served today with a body attachment which had all the effect of an arrest order when he finished two and a half hours' testimony before the federal jury investigating the disaster.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Two officers of the S. S. Morro Castle left the burning ship in two life boats carrying a total of about 50 members of the crew but apparently only 3 passengers, they told a federal inquiry today.

Chief Engineer Eben Abbott and First Assistant Engineer Anthony Bujia told the grand jury of how the engine crew left the ship when smoke filled their part of the vessel.

Abbott's life boat, which took him off before he had gone to the engine room, had 30 crew and two passengers. Bujia's boat had one passenger, he believed, and about 20 crew.

Dr. G. M. Phelps, a passenger testified that no fire alarm of any kind awakened him after the Morro Castle caught fire.

"What effort was made to get any passengers?" Abbott was asked, by D. N. Hoover of the commerce department.

"There were no more to be seen and the wind forced the life boat away," Abbott replied.

Q—Were any of your crew still in the engine room? A—I am pretty sure they were out.

Q—But you don't know? A—No.

Q—When you got in the life boat was any water still being played on the fire?

Two Passengers
A—Very little. Our boat put out about half an hour after I awoke. We had the quartermaster and I in all. There were two passengers. All the rest were crew.

Hoover pressed Abbott vigorously for an explanation of efforts made, if any, to get passengers aboard the number one lifeboat, which put out an hour after the general alarm.

The only reply he got was that there were no more passengers on that part of the deck and the captain had ordered Abbott suffering from smoke, to get the life boat.

Q—Did you have any difficulty with the crew?
A—No, not with my crew. My engine crew worshipped that ship. Not a person ever went into the engine room that failed to compliment us.

Q—What started the fire?
A—I cannot say. There was lightning that night. I have no opinion, however. It is too hard a problem. I don't know if it was set or not.

Q—Did you know of the supposed incendiary fire of August 11?
A—No, I did not.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(UP)—President William Green of American Federation of Labor, the midst of textile strike maneuvers here, declared today that "the strike must be won."

Welcome Freshmen On New Junior College Campus

GLASS WORK WILL BEGIN NEXT MONDAY

Freshmen were welcomed to the new Santa Ana Junior college campus yesterday at the first of a three-day program of Freshman Days, their registration being followed by a tour of inspection through College hall at Tenth and Main streets, ending with a program of music and speeches of greeting.

After lunch, served in the cafeteria and gymnasium building, with the freshmen as guests, there was a tour of the various college buildings, and then came the aptitude tests, preceding registration and classifications; also physical examinations. During the afternoon, faculty advisers were in their rooms to consult with the students regarding courses and other problems.

College work begins next Monday. The greeting committee at College hall yesterday were Freda Sawtelle, editor-in-chief of El Don, and John McCoy, faculty adviser. The hospitality committee, Miss Eleanor Bowyer and the Spinners, and Sam Tucker and the A. A. E. next took charge of the freshmen and conducted them through College hall.

The tour ended with an assembly, at which L. L. Betman, advisor for freshmen days, presided. There was a vocal solo by Robert Brown, after which President D. K. Hammond, of the junior college, gave an address of welcome. Words of greeting also came from Mrs. Eleanor Northcross, dean of women; Dean McKee Fisk, and Robert Tannenbaum, president of Associated Students.

Miss Alice Martin, accompanied by Miss Dorothy Proctor, gave a vocal solo, and Mrs. John Tessenmann spoke on "College Opportunities." Alumni talks were given by Dr. William Motley, for the men, and Miss Lavina Compton, for the women, both graduates in 1930.

Claude Owens and the Brotherhood of Bachelors presided at cleaning up the dishes after lunch, while the tour committee, John Henderson and the Junior Lions, and Martha Tutill and the Las Meninas, conducted the freshmen on an inspection of college buildings.

The second day's program opened this morning with an assembly, over which President Hammond presided. Thomas H. Glenn, of the faculty, spoke on differences between high school and college. Philip Hood gave a flute solo, accompanied by Miss Carolyn Mueller; Miss Althea Lemke rendered a vocal solo, with a flute obbligato by Philip Hood, and with Harold Dittmer at the piano. Dean Fisk discussed items of interest to new students.

Tests and examinations were scheduled this afternoon.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

LONDON, Sept. 11.—(To the Editor of The Register.) These Englishmen are about the smartest folk I have seen. It's one place where Fascism, Communism, Hitlerism or nudism will never get anywhere. They have a park here, Hyde Park, that's just built for folks that are agin something. Yesterday I saw it at its best. The biggest crowd in its history, the black shirts holding one meeting and the Communists, two hundred yards away, holding another, and all London in between laughing at both sides. Everybody went home satisfied for they had all had their say. For after all, nobody wants his cause near as bad as he wants to talk about his cause, and England has solved the talking problem.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

Introduction of Associated Students officials, will be high-lights of tomorrow's program. Registration of returning students is scheduled Thursday, and of new students Friday and Saturday. Class work begins next Monday. The faculty reception is set for Friday, September 21, at the Bowers Museum, North Main street at Twentieth street. The annual student-faculty picnic will be held October 5 at Irvine park. The first football game is scheduled September 22 with Compton at Santa Ana.

Distribution of "Frosh" caps and "Bible" will be made at a freshmen register, it was announced.

Paper Issues "Frosh" Edition

Carrying complete information on freshman days and devoted to the interests of new students on the improved jaycee campus at Tenth and Main streets, the first edition this semester of El Don, Santa Ana Junior college weekly paper, was off the presses yesterday.

The five column publication, under the editorship of Miss Freda Sawtelle, contains greetings from students and faculty leaders, including Superintendent of Schools Frank Henderson, President D. K. Hammond, Dean McKee Fisk, Dean of Women Eleanor Northcross and Student President Robert Tannenbaum. The six-page edition was well filled with advertisements from leading Santa Ana merchants while brief write-ups gave the objectives and purpose of the many campus clubs.

Editorial comment featured the advantages of having a separate junior college, unhampered by the high school, and the use that will be made of SERA funds for students. Jack Pezues, editor last year and on the advertising staff this term, contributed a column, "Down Editorial Alley."

Staff members for the paper will be named later by Miss Sawtelle and Adviser John McCoy. Those who assisted with the special freshman edition were Paul Nell Clayton, Kenneth Hunt and Doris Rockwell, assistant editors; Marvin Spicer, sports editor; Charles Downie and Jack Pegues, advertising; Thomas E. Williams is printing adviser.

HOOVER CONTINUES RAP ON NEW DEAL

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Government by the people has been abolished and tyranny erected wherever Fascism, Socialism, or Communism has taken over the state, former president Herbert Hoover says in an article published today in the Saturday Evening Post.

"From the examples of national regimentation that we have examined," says Mr. Hoover, "it is obvious that many of these measures represent not reform or relief within the boundaries of liberty, but that they are emulating parts of some of these other systems with the hope of speeding recovery from the depression."

He excludes relief and reform measures from his discussion of regimentation, observing that "proper action in relief of distress is inherent in the social vision of the true American system. No American should go hungry or cold if he is willing to work."

Group Meets To Organize Support In Recorder Race

A group of interested citizens last night met at Veterans hall in the interests of the candidacy of Harold Yost for county recorder. Organization of a group that will promote Yost's candidacy for the county office was started at the meeting. Dr. Elliott Rowland was named chairman of a committee which will investigate various campaign issues to draw up a definite platform for Yost.

The meeting last night was the first of a series planned to be held throughout the county.

came up from the ranks of the textile workers, for the governorship. In many cases local issues predominated over new deal considerations.

ARIZONA
PHOENIX, Ariz., Sept. 11.—(UP)—With all candidates avowing support of the New Deal, Arizona Democrats cast ballots today to nominate a U. S. senator, representative and governor.

Henry F. Ashurst, facing his first major fight to retain the seat in the senate he has held 22 years, was opposed by Sidney P. Osborn, former chairman of the state Democratic committee; Renz L. Jennings, Maricopa county attorney; William Coxon, former legislator, and Col. C. H. Rutherford, war department attaché in charge of civilian military training. The veteran incumbent was favored to win nomination.

Republican opposition was lacking. Isabella Greenway, personal friend of President Roosevelt, was an overwhelming favorite to retain her congressional seat. Little opposition was expected to develop from the candidacy of her one opponent, Frank Hilgeman, Phoenix farm leader.

COLORADO
DENVER, Colo., Sept. 11.—(UP)—Colorado Democrats today voted in the state's primary upon the candidacy of the first woman ever to seek the governorship, Miss Josephine Roche.

The nationally known industrialist was opposed by the incumbent, Gov. Ed. C. Johnson.

When the polls opened, Miss Roche, head of the Rocky Mountain Fuel Co., friend of union labor, and life-long social worker, was a 30 to 7 favorite after perhaps the bitterest primary campaign in state history.

The only other contest of national interest to be decided in the primary voting was the Democratic fight in the Third Congressional district, where Rep. John A. Martin of Pueblo was opposed by George J. Knapp of the same city.

On the Republican side, not a single contest was to be decided.

WASHINGTON
OLYMPIA, Wash., Sept. 11.—(UP)—John C. Stevenson, self-styled "Man of the People" and once sought on stock manipulation charges in New York state, contested for the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator against five opponents today in Washington's primary election.

Despite his energetic campaign, the "Man of the People" was not a favorite. The choice of a Democratic nominee to contest for the seat being vacated by U. S. Senator Claude Dill appeared to lie between Judge Charles D. Leavy, Spokane, and Lewis B. Schwellenbach, Seattle attorney. A year ago Buffalo, N. Y., authorities sought to extradite Stevenson under the name of John C. Stockman on charges 12 years old. Gov. Clarence Martin refused to sign the papers.

On the Republican side, Reno Odlin, Olympia banker and American Legion candidate, was the favorite. Four others filed for the nomination, with D. V. Northland, Yakima dry, and Ralph Horr, former Yakima congressman, considered closest to the apparent leader.

All six of Washington's Democratic incumbent congressmen are seeking nomination and are expected to win.

VERMONT
MONTPELIER, Vt., Sept. 11.—(UP)—Battles for the Republican senatorial and gubernatorial nominations cornered the bulk of interest in Vermont's state primary today.

All Democratic candidates were unopposed.

U. S. Senator Warren R. Austin of Bathboro, seeking Republican nomination, was opposed by former U. S. District Attorney Harry E. Ames of Brighton. The winner will oppose Fred C. Martin of Bennington, Democrat, in the November election.

Governor Stanley C. Wilson, Republican, is retiring after serving two terms. Seeking to succeed him are Lieutenant-Governor Benjamin Williams of Proctor. The winner will oppose James P. Leamy of West Rutland, Democrat, in November.

Congressman Charles A. Plumley of Northfield is unopposed for Republican nomination for Vermont's only seat in the house. He will be opposed in November by Carroll E. Jenkins of Orleans.

MICHIGAN
LANSING, Mich., Sept. 11.—(UP)—Michigan voters went to the polls today to select candidates to major offices for the Republican and Democratic parties.

The balloting was not expected to exceed 700,000, compared with the 1,047,000 two years ago in the primary.

Governor Wm. A. Comstock, Dem., seeking re-election, was opposed by Judge Arthur J. Lacy and Auditor General John K. Stack.

In all but 23 precincts Governor Louis Jefferson Brann, running far ahead of the ticket, had become the first Democratic governor in Maine's history to win a second term, by defeating Alfred K. Ames, Republican.

The vote stood: Brann, 163,003. Ames, 131,662.

The congressional standings: First district (complete)—Simon M. Hamlin, Democrat, and self-styled "dirt farmer," 48,392; Carroll L. Beedy, Republican incumbent, 46,903.

Second district (188 of 213 precincts)—Edward C. Moran, Democratic incumbent, 44,086; Zelma M. Dwinall, Republican, 41,222. Third district (260 of 273 precincts)—Former Governor Ralph O. Brewster, Republican, 42,996; John G. Utterback, Democratic incumbent, 41,862.

The vote result was sharp drawn between Hale and Dubord. The Republican, accustomed to winning his election fights by large pluralities, campaigned as an out-and-out enemy of the Democratic National administration. Dubord said the president was the first since Wilson "who thinks of the common man and woman."

Brann is the first Democratic governor in Maine in 16 years. Republicans demanded his defeat as a symbol of Maine's repudiation of the New Deal.

The tremendous vote, perhaps of record proportions, reflected the keen interest everywhere exhibited in the campaign. Though 94 years old, A. S. McPeters, retired 325 miles from Ware, Mass., to vote in his former home town of Orono.

Mindful of the important psychological effect of the election results, involving the moss-covered adage, "as Maine goes, so goes the nation," Republicans had imported "big guns" from outside the state to whet interest. One of these, Col. Theodore Roosevelt, warned that "a vote for Brann is a vote for the New Deal—for Tugwell, Frankfurter and Co."

New Dealers Well Pleased With Vote

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Returns from Maine's general election today severely jolted Republican hopes that they could increase their house membership by 10 to 15 seats in the November election.

Returns indicated Democrats would hold their two-to-one control of the Maine house delegation. Although Sen. Frederick Hale was leading his Democratic opponent, F. Harold Dubord, his margin of victory if he wins will be less than 2000 compared with the Hale majority of 80,000 in 1928.

New Dealers were enthusiastic over re-election of Maine's Democratic Governor, Louis J. Brann. But it was upon Hale and the house seats that political observers based their judgment of Maine sentiment.

Chairman Henry P. Fletcher of the Republican national committee said Maine Republicans "held their own."

"The Maine vote," he added, "shows the necessity of an immediate intensification of Republican efforts. It is evident that the people have not yet understood what it (the New Deal) means. Somebody, sometime will have to pay the bill and the people of this country must realize it."

If Maine accurately reflects national sentiment, the Democrats may expect to come through the November election with the 189 majority of the 73rd congress almost intact. Democrats privately have estimated that the party would lose about 30 seats. Political observers generally expect the Democrats to gain from three to five seats in the senate.

STATE SOLONS MEET AT NOON ON WEDNESDAY

and unless a new fund is set up, the state will have no relief funds to carry through the winter. The federal government has been advancing approximately $3,500,000 monthly, and Merriam hopes $5,000,000 will be increased to $5,000,000 if California guarantees to furnish $2,000,000 a month for a year.

The acting executive said he would leave mechanics of the bond issue to the legislature. He will recommend, however, that the state bear the burden, rather than holding borrowers responsible for loans, such as was done when the $20,000,000 issue was advanced to individual counties.

Other legislative action proposed includes passage of a bill extending the time for redemption of real estate sold to the state for delinquent taxes; enactment of a measure setting up a new moratorium on sales of property under mortgages or deeds of trust; and validation of the recently authorized improvement bonds of the Palo Verde district, Riverside county.

Discards Proposal

Merriam decided to leave out of his call a proposal to appropriate $243,000, reimbursing the state emergency and National Guard funds for money spent in maintaining troops in San Francisco during the strike. This matter probably will be carried over to the next regular session in January.

The executive said he favored passage of legislation enabling the federal government to acquire California redwood lands as a part of the national park system, and this may be considered.

Merriam said a majority of legislators appeared to be in favor of the proposals he recommended. In such an event, the session should be ended by Saturday night at the latest. The legislators will receive no extra pay, and it was believed most of them would be anxious to return to their homes as soon as possible. They will be permitted only mileage expenses.

It will be the last session for nine senators and 30 assemblymen, unless they are re-elected in the future. Seven senators were not candidates for renomination at the August primary, and two others were defeated. Twenty-three assemblymen made no attempt to be returned, and nine failed to win their nominations.

Because 89 of the 120 legislators will not return for the regular session in January, attendance tomorrow was expected to fall considerably short of 100 per cent.

Republican incumbent, is unopposed for his party's nomination. Four candidates seek the Democratic post: Frank A. Picard, retiring chairman of the state liquor commission; Alva M. Cummins, Ray D. Schneider and Claude S. Carne.

KILLED ACCEPTING RIDE

BOWLING GREEN, O.—(UP)—Dashing across a road to accept a "lift" from a motorist, E. R. Cloud, 72, Forsythe, Mont., was killed instantly when struck by an automobile on the Dixie highway near here. A Columbus motorist, whose machine struck the aged man, was absolved.

The next witness was Arthur Stammer, 3rd assistant engineer. His eye, injured in the disaster, was bandaged.

Q—What was the first hint of fire? A—The phone rang and some one said smoke was coming out above. Then the fire alarm rang immediately. I ran below and started the pumps. We started three pumps. Smoke began to come in the engine room.

Q—Did you stop the ventilators? A—I stopped the forced draught ventilators but the smoke got worse.

Q—Did you yourself slow down motors? A—Not until we were driven out. About 15 minutes after the lights went out the smoke was so bad we had to leave. The motors were shut down.

Hamas, Lasky To Fight 10 Rounds

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Steve Hamas of Passaic, N. J., and Art Lasky of Minneapolis will meet in a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden October 5, in the first of the American elimination bouts to select a challenger for Max Baer's heavyweight title.

Q—When you were below decks were the stewards getting passengers out? A—I didn't see them. I was on the service stairway. I did not shut fire doors in the passenger passageway because it was so hot it would have been committing suicide.

Q—If all screen or fire doors were shut would any passengers below have been trapped? A—Yes, sir. There would have been some in one compartment on "C" deck who could not get out. Yes, sir, they would have been trapped.

YOUNG VOTERS ORGANIZE TO AID SINCLAIR

Organizations of young men and women voters will be perfected in each community in Orange county to assist in the election of Upton Sinclair as governor of California, it was announced last night at an initial meeting of the group held at Democratic headquarters, 425 North Sycamore street.

Miss Virginia Allen, state organizer for the Sinclair headquarters, was present and outlined the procedure necessary in completing the Democratic organization in preparation for a statewide victory in November. Every effort is being made, she said, to perfect the Sinclair organization so that it will function down to each individual precinct.

Charles W. Dunning of Orange, recently appointed junior executive secretary for the 74th assembly district, presided at the gathering, and pointed out the big job ahead during the ensuing two months to acquaint many with the Sinclair program. Many even yet know nothing of the Sinclair plan to end poverty in California, he declared, all they have heard about it being from hostile, prejudiced sources.

The object of the new young voters' organizations, he said, is to get young men and women actively interested in political affairs, to acquaint them with the problems of the day, and through them to carry on a program of education which will keep voters in general informed upon matters affecting their interests.

Dunning also called attention to the economic and political conference of the Young Sinclair League scheduled for the Pacific Palisades September 29 and 30, and invited all who wish to attend.

Theodore Nicolai was chosen temporary chairman of the group, with Miss Frances Gerhart as secretary, and plans were announced for a meeting of young Democratic men and women voters of Santa Ana to be held next Monday evening at the home of June Corry, First and Sullivan streets.

CODE TO BE TOPIC AT BAKERS' MEET

The National Bakers Code will provide the principal topic for discussion when the Wholesale and Retail Bakers association of Orange county holds its monthly meeting at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow at the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, 606 North Broadway. Orange county bakers, at this meeting, are to select a local representative to act as local authority of the Orange county district. McDowell said, and a large attendance of bakers is expected.

A set of by-laws will be offered the bakers for their consideration, it is announced, and it is hoped a representative of the Regional Code Authority for the baking industry of Southern California may be present.

All bakers of the county have received notices of tomorrow night's meeting and were asked to attend or send their vote by proxy, according to A. Cavalli, secretary of the association.

TIPSY DRIVER MENACE TO BE PROGRAM TOPIC

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—The nation's experience with drunken drivers, with particular reference to the effect of repeal on this vexing problem, will be among the subjects to be studied and discussed when the twenty-third annual Safety Congress and Exposition convenes at Cleveland, Ohio, October 1 to 5. About 7000 delegates, including several hundred police and other law enforcement officials, are expected to attend.

While national safety council figures indicate that liquor is a factor in a minority of traffic accidents, many authorities believe that there is a vast amount of under-reporting and that the figures do not present a true picture of this menace. The congress will offer the first opportunity for a real discussion of this problem among officials from all parts of the country. Immediately following the congress it is believed the National Safety Congress will embark on an intensive nationwide research project which will throw more light on the problem and its solution.

Among the subjects listed in the program for discussion are "The Menace of the Drunken Driver Who Has Been Drinking" and "Handling the Case of the Drunken Driver Who Has Been Drinking." It is also expected that some time will be given to descriptions of the methods used in various municipalities to determine whether drivers involved in accidents have been drinking and, if so, how much they have imbibed.

HULL HEADS SHEEP MEN'S COMMITTEE

R. W. Hull, of Orange, prominent Orange county breeder of Suffolk sheep, is chairman of a Southern California committee now engaged in forming an organization to be known as the Southern California Wool Growers Association. It was announced today by the farm advisor's office.

The committee, formed September 5, includes leading sheepmen from other counties who are aiding Hull, originator of the plan. The members include M. C. Stalling, of Inglewood; Marshall Munnecke, of Ojai; A. L. Waterman, of Barstow; and Jean Casouloumeq, of Arlington.

The organization is being sponsored by the Agricultural Extension Service and the California Wool Growers Association, and growers are furnished with details of the culling and purchasing program to assist sheepmen to reduce their flocks where feed and pasture are insufficient to carry them over to the next rains, which will relieve the present drought condition.

All sheepmen of Orange county have been notified of the plan and have been furnished application blanks to file with the local director of emergency drought relief, Harold E. Wahlberg, county farm advisor, who represents the U. S. Department of Agriculture in Orange county. Growers are asked to send in applications as soon as possible, if they desire to take advantage of the culling program.

GREAT CHANGES IN BOWL MADE FOR REINHARDT PAGEANT

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 11.—Shakespeare himself could not have conceived a more magnificent setting for "A Midsummer Night's Dream" than that which has arisen under the magic touch of Max Reinhardt, world famous impresario. The show, a presentation of the California Festival association, opens September 17 in Hollywood Bowl for a series of five performances.

Patrons of the Bowl will be amazed at the changes wrought to make of it a woodland fairyland that has probably never been equalled for natural splendor. Under the ingenious direction of Reinhardt, a vast crew of workmen has been telling in three 8-hour shifts every day for more than a week.

The huge familiar orchestra shell of the amphitheater has been removed and in its stead scores of flashing hammers have erected an enormous stage to accommodate the more than 400 actors who appear in the play.

Over the board foundations, landscape artists have placed thousands of cubic feet of soft green oak and installed a hundred giant oak trees that seem to arise from the very floor of the stage to mingle their branches in a twining canopy. Many of these trees, which were boxed and transported from the hills of California, weigh over 30 tons apiece. A long sloping bridge leads from the rear of the stage into the hills at the foot of the Bowl, to give audiences an amazingly fine perspective.

Rivalling the splendor of the setting is the quality of the cast. Reinhardt has chosen from the ranks of Hollywood film players. Among the many prominent artists who will appear are Evelyn Venable, Gloria Stuart, William Farnum, Otis Harlan and Mickey Rooney.

Charles R. Alstot Dies At Age of 78

Charles L. Alstot, native of Virginia and retired farmer who had resided in Santa Ana for three years, died yesterday at his home, 839 North Ross street. He was 78 years of age.

He is survived by three sons, O. C. Alstot of Tustin, Clyde Alstot of McCook, Nebraska, and T. H. Alstot of Newburg, Oregon; and two daughters, Mrs. Elder Hawkins of Tower City, Nebraska, and Mrs. E. L. Castleman of San Diego.

Funeral services will be announced later by Harrell and Brown.

HEAVY SEAS IN NEWPORT AREA ARE SUBSIDING

Newport Beach was counting its damages today as heavy seas and rip tides that have lashed the coast for the past two weeks apparently were subsiding, after extracting a toll of one life and approximately $15,000 dollars.

Close to two dozen homes were being moved from the danger area in West Newport, and train crews were busy strengthening sagging tracks undermined by the tides, causing Pacific Electric passengers to be routed into Newport yesterday by bus after service was suspended between Huntington Beach and Newport.

An accurate check on damages was not possible yesterday. Three homes and a garage succumbed to the fury of the waves, a dozen electric light poles were washed out, a three block section of Seashore Drive was demolished, and a quarter mile of Pacific Electric tracks was dangerously weakened during the phenomenal tides which swept the area.

The entire danger area was roped off by police again yesterday as thousands of spectators thronged to the spot, impeding efforts of workmen in their salvage operations. Pillings were being driven along the coast as a protection to buildings not yet moved, derelict timbers were being dragged from the surf, and sagging homes were being slid from their pillings and removed to safer spots inland.

The damage done this year is greater than since 1904, old timers in the vicinity stated, although somewhat similar circumstances have prevailed in recent years, occasioning the moving of some homes along the strip of beach in West Newport.

The gouged out beach will be filled in by the dumping of eight million cubic yards of material from the bay in the near future, building the ruined beach out for a space of 200 feet. A move will be made to request the city to build protecting groins along the area, it was said, in order to hold the beach when it is laid in. Observers pointed out that the minimum of damage done above thirty-sixth street was directly due to the protecting groin at that point, providing a bulwark against the shifting action of the rip tides.

MISS WOODWARD BECOMES BRIDE OF H. R. BUHLER

FULLERTON, Sept. 11.—Miss Alma Genevieve Woodward was wedded last night to Henry R. Buhler at an informal church wedding, with the Rev. Donald Milligan, pastor of Placentia Calvary church, reading the ceremony. The Rev. Francis E. Hawes assisted with the rites.

The occasion was of interest in many ways. Not only was it the anniversary of her mother's wedding to the late Luke Woodward, but the wedding party, including the ministers, all had been students at the Bible institute of Los Angeles, with the exception of the little flower girl.

Thirty-two years ago yesterday, Mrs. Woodward (Miss Rhoda Craig) was married at the Craig home in Fullerton.

The church last night was decorated with a large arch, with a large lighted bell hung in the center, under which the bride party stood. The background of the scene was lattice work, covered with waterlilies, asters and zinnias, and large bouquets also were added. Tall candelabra were lighted preceding the ceremony.

The bride was dressed in a princess type white satin, with a cowl neckline, puff sleeves at the elbow, and floor length in cut. She wore the traditional wedding veil of the Buhler family, which had a coronet, caught at the hair, and at the neck with orange blossoms, and trailing slightly longer than the train on the wedding gown. Her shoulder bouquet was of briar cliff roses, maiden hair fern and lilies of the valley, with Cecil Bruner roses caught to the long ribbons.

In addition to her veil, she carried a blue handkerchief belonging to a friend, Mrs. Jark Mohr (Marjorie Trowbridge) and wore a Rhinestone bracelet belonging to Mrs. Ashley Dunham, and an old watch, and a chain, her mother had before she was married. Her attendant was Miss Dorothy Woodward, a sister, who wore a deep shade of blue chiffon velvet, cut floor length, and with a ribbon bow on one shoulder. She carried pink sweet peas as an arm bouquet.

David Quiring, of Los Angeles, a chum of the bridegroom while they were at Bible institute, was best man.

Miss Beattie Stovall, dressed in pink chiffon, and wearing a gardenia corsage, lighted the candles preceding the ceremony. Miss Lena Lois Dowling, of Los Angeles, and Miss Myrtle Belle Renaud, of Long Beach, were usherettes. Little Marilyn Hale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hale, of Placentia, wore a pink dress, with a large pink bow on her hair, and carried a blue basket filled with flower petals, and scattered flowers in the path of the bride.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Woodward, clad in black chiffon and lace, and wearing a corsage of rosebuds and sweet peas, was escorted to her place by Mrs. Mohr.

Mrs. Ted Woods, of Orange, played the organ and preceding the ceremony, she presented "Love's Old Sweet Song" and "Annie Laurie." Raymond Blakeley sang "Because" and Miss Dorothy Bausman sang "God Made You Mine." She played the Bridal Chorus from Wagner's Lohengrin as the wedding march, and the wedding march composed by Mendelssohn as the recessional.

Following the wedding and a reception at the home, the young couple left for a short honeymoon. She wore a black corded silk, trimmed in white, for the trip.

The honoree was the winner of the first prize in bridge and was also presented with many lovely gifts from her friends.

FULLERTON, Sept. 11.—Mrs. O. M. Thompson of 761 North Spadra road will open her home for the first meeting of the home economics section of Fullerton Ebell club on September 28 at 2 p. m., according to Miss Fonda Roberts, section chairman, who will preside. WHEN YOU'RE HEALTHY YOU'RE HAPPY!

The blame for "blue" days can be laid often to common constipation. It may bring loss of appetite and energy, sallow and pimply skins, even serious illness. Correct it by eating a delicious cereal.

Research shows Kellogg's All-Bran provides "bulk" and vitamin B to relieve common constipation. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in All-Bran is much like that in leafy vegetables. Isn't this better than taking patent medicines—so often harmful?

Two tablespoonsfuls of All-Bran daily, relieve most types of constipation. With each meal, in chronic cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor. Get the red and green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

-- News Behind The News --

WASHINGTON
By George Durno

Upton Sinclair got a million dollars worth of free publicity by calling on President Roosevelt and holding a radio-broadcast open forum at the National Press club. He made an impression of political shrewdness on the Washington newsmen. Whether they agreed or not with his philosophy of ending poverty by inauguration of a cooperative barter plan among the unemployed, they agreed that this Socialistic Democrat had ready answers--of a vote-getting nature--to almost every conceivable question about his EPIC program.

National party leaders are still weighing the consequences of his visits here and at Hyde Park. As yet, Democrats who hoped he wouldn't be nominated are about convinced Sinclair will be a November winner who can sweep a state ticket with him. Republicans, at first jubilant, are now worried about their own chances. Administration financial directors privately are concerned over Sinclair's eastern sortie because they have been trying so hard to convince money circles that the New Deal is charted over a comparatively conservative course. The Californian left behind him a distinct impression that he and President Roosevelt see eye to eye--with the Presidential vision, if anything, broader over a mutual horizon.

Local observers concede that Sinclair has fair cause to claim relationship to the New Deal. Federal Emergency Relief Administrator Harry Hopkins has been attempting to put into effect piecemeal over the whole country the same general plan which won Sinclair his California nomination.

Subsistence-homestead projects which Hopkins prefers to call "home farms"--already are under way in many localities. Canning and manufacture of mattresses and furniture by the unemployed for the unemployed is in the offing. A cooperative unemployed community plan is under way in the District of Columbia.

Hopkins has given complaining private industrialists the same answer that Sinclair makes--that the unemployed no longer furnish them a market and that the manufacturers should rejoice over any move which makes the out-of-luck self-sustaining, thus lightening the tax burden.

SOLDIERS

When Congress meets next January there are prospects of a scrap between the Army General Staff and the men directing the C. C. C. camps.

The national legislature is going to be asked to make the C. C. C. a permanent proposition which will take care of about 300,000 boys annually who otherwise would be jobless.

Generally speaking, our military leaders applaud this idea. In a sense it gives the country a semi-military reserve upon which to draw instantly in time of trouble.

But the generals are going to make a counter-proposition. They are set to suggest a Civilian Conservation Corps with a strength of 550,000 men. Then, they would like to see the regular army increased by 50,000.

The staff theory is that the C. C. C. boys get physical conditioning and discipline but they don't learn "squads east" and how to handle a machine gun. This would have to be taught them before they could do battle.

Therefore, it would be just as cheap--probably cheaper--to enlist 50,000 of the unemployed youngsters in the Army and teach them all the tricks of war. The pacifists will be on hand to squawk long and loud.

POLITICS

Friends of Rep. Joe Byrns of Tenn., say he already has over 20 per cent of the old Democratic House membership pledged to support him for the Speakership. At this stage of the game, if this figure is accurate, it would appear the Democratic Floor Leader is an odds-on bet to succeed the late Henry T. Rainey.

Byrns' campaign managers would like to see him elected Speaker without being forced to do any trading.

In common with most candidates for political office, however, Byrns probably will be forced into deals involving the Democratic Leadership and the Chairmanship of the House Rules Committee.

Rep. William B. Bankhead of Ala., on the surface appears to be Byrns' chief opponent for the Speakership. Oldtimers around Congress don't think it would be hard for Byrns to make an arrangement with Bankhead whereby they would pool their support and win on a ticket that would elevate Byrns to the rostrum and make Bankhead majority leader.

This, of course, would give the South both top jobs--something which couldn't happen very often. As a sop to the North and West the Rules Chairmanship would have to go to one of these regions. Rep. John J. O'Connor, of New York, brother of the former law partner of President Roosevelt, is a likely prospect in such a combination.

The business of revamping NRA has given FDR one of his most delicate problems. Just when he thought everything was set to put Rightberg in to carry on, Johnson kicked over the traces.

Smiling blandly in public, these two erstwhile bosom friends have utilized every available indirect publicity source to fight like two Kilkenny cats. The man who loses has friends who'll not let him take it with a song.

ELBA

Is Hoover aiming at the presidency in 1936?

His intimates insist that about 15,000,000 votes were cast for him personally in 1932--that any other opponent of FDR would have received 15,000,000 votes less than Hoover received. They say that this represents Hoover's strength. He is titular head of the G. O. P. and will remain so until the national convention nominates a candidate. His friends assert that he controls a majority of the National Committee.

So they sum up the situation by saying, "If Hoover doesn't get the nomination he will name the man who will."

NOTES
Cotton strikers and communists are accusing one another of stirring up violence. . . G. O. P. politicians expect FDR to send out word to "swallow Sinclair"--they say it's because Sinclair has swallowed California Democracy. . . Administration policy compels Secretary Hull to make another try at agreement with Soviet Russia on debts and credits. But he refuses to make a bad bargain. . . Jim Farley and his crowd can't budge FDR from his habit of appointing Progressive Republicans to office instead of deserving Democrats. . . Budget Director Bell as Commissioner of Accounts and Deposits has an exceptional knowledge of Treasury workings.

NEW YORK

By James McMullin

FLAMES
The battle plan of the anti-New Deal generals in New York is just about set for the pre-election campaign. Big business and financial circles feel that the make-up of the next Congress is a matter of life and death to them and they're set to fight as never before to put over a conservative victory regardless of party labels. They are convinced that the President's plans to convert recovery measures into permanent reforms must be blocked in 1935 or their place in the sun is lost forever.

This last ditch mood is comparatively recent. Up to a month ago many New York leaders still felt that Mr. Roosevelt would eventually shift his course to the right and give them a chance to go places in their accustomed manner. They were heartened by the selection of Joe Kennedy as SEC Chairman and by the relaxation of NRA enforcement.

They wanted a conservative Congress this fall but they weren't terribly hot up about it. They figured they could exert successful pressure from within the administration via such agencies as the Industrial Advisory Board and conservative Democratic leaders in the Senate. A number of them shrugged off the President's ideals as a mere matter of political expediency to be eased overboard when the time was ripe.

The Green Bay speech shocked them out of their dreams like an icy shower. Determination to smash the New Deal for keeps has been the backstage watchword ever since. Dozens of influential recruits--passive up to then--have rallied to the cause. The Douglas and Stark resignations have also helped mightily to fan the flames of conservative rebellion.

SUBTLE

Wall Street realizes its unpopularity and will remain as deep in the dugout as possible. But don't think its offensive will be confined to such obvious measures as promoting the American Liberty League and contributing to Republican campaign chests.

Its most significant and probably most telling weapon is far more subtle. It involves painting a psychological picture of the New Deal as a complete flop--to answer every New Deal claim of improved conditions with evidence to the contrary--not merely by political speeches but by the more impersonal and effective method of letting poor corporation reports, sagging markets and greater unemployment speak for themselves.

Here are a few shots from the anti-Roosevelt locker. Some have already been fired and others will be between now and November. Watch for them.

1. The New Deal is supposed to have increased employment and purchasing power. But U. S. Steel and Republic have reduced white collar wages and several railroads have fired a number of employees. Other large corporations will follow suit on the ground that poor business prospects demand rigid economy.

2. The stock market is weak and thin and likely to remain so for a while--largely because of an unofficial buyers' strike among large traders. As a barometer of business it will register stormy weather.

3. Depression talk is the keynote of business conversations. One authority privately remarks that the talk exaggerates actual conditions by two-thirds. The more it's spread the more stagnant business will remain for the next two months.

4. The government will get nowhere in its efforts to promote credit expansion. Nor will there be any important flotations under the Securities Act before November.

5. Government bonds are likely to soften some more from slackened demand--not dangerously but enough to arouse uneasiness about the soundness of Federal credit. The Treasury has had more trouble arranging the terms of its current financing than at any time since Roosevelt took office.

6. Third quarter earnings statements--issued in October--will be discouraging. Many will show up badly against the same quarter a year ago as well as against the second quarter. In some cases--if necessary--earnings will be hidden in higher depreciation charges and such.

FACE

Don't get the idea from this that a group of big bankers and business men have secretly sat and decided on these things as a matter of united action. Key brains don't work that way and much of the stagnation is due to authentic fear. But that fear is being skillfully stimulated by the super-cautions attitude--easy to assume--of financial bellwethers.

The anti-New Dealers want a blue October and the administration will have to step lively to counteract their influence. A leading Wall Streeter, asked if tactics designed to lower earnings and weaken security prices wasn't a case of cutting off the nose to spite the face, replied: "If we don't kill off the New Deal now we won't have any face left to spite."

BACKGROUND

Here's the inside of the Washington vs. Wall Street maneuvers--part of the picture just described--on the terms of the Treasury's new offerings.

The New York Clearing House banks got together and firmly agreed they wouldn't care to buy new government bonds that ran longer than three years. The Treasury--first having decided to cover September and October requirements ($1,725,000,000) all at once avoid a financing controversy in the heat of the political campaign and also to clear the track for inflationary measures if needed--wanted a small part of the issue in two year notes and the bulk in five year bonds.

The tug of war has been strenuous. Earl Ballew-Seligman partner who served as Morgenthau's aide for a while--has been asked to return to the Treasury presumably to offset the Douglas retirement. Pending a decision on that he has acted unofficially as Morgenthau's liaison officer with the banks to try to induce them to accept the Treasury's ideas. Read the Treasury's announcement today in the light of this background and decide for yourself whether Washington or Wall Street has won.

The 20 greatest thoroughbreds of the last 50 years. Who brought that up? And why wouldn't such a list receive quite a little attention, and considerable altering by dissatisfied critics?

Lineups of the kind always will be unsatisfactory, since seldom do two persons view any group of several runners in the same light. Without removing any from a roll that contains such as Man o' War, Twenty Grand, Exterminator, Gallant Fox, Hindoo, Colin Hanover and Kingston, this column asks how it is that the name of Miss Woodford does not appear?

It may be stretching a point to include Miss Woodford when she was born 54 years ago, but just a half century ago Miss Woodford, a 4-year-old, met the best of both sexes that could be brought against her and won every start—nine.

In the next two years she participated in 19 numbers, captured 12, and was unplaced in only her last race.

All told Miss Woodford went to the post 48 times, bagged 27 events, was seven times second, and twice third. Her stablemate, Hanover, is included in the select group, yet this great galloper's average was not as good as that of Miss Woodford. Hanover grabbed 22 of 50 races, and only $600 more in purses than Miss Woodford.

Freeland Was Her Nemesis
The Dwyer brothers never picked spots for Miss Woodford, or any other place of horseflesh that was their property, yet they bought the renowned Kingston so that Hanover would not have to tackle him.

James Rowe, Sr., resigned rather than start Miss Woodford in the Long Island Stakes. The famous trainer saw she was not conditioning well. He was fond of the mare—considered her the finest runner of her sex of all time not excepting the peerless Ruthless.

In that race, which was at two-mile heats, Miss Woodford had to meet the foremost horse of her time, Freeland. The brown daughter of Billet met Freeland four times. He always beat her, but in the first three races could not whip her by more than a head.

There were more first-class horses in that period than there are today, and only Freeland could take the measure of Miss Woodford.

If she could be transplanted today, Equipoise, best of the current period among the older horses, would be the only one which could defeat her. And since Equipoise was by no means our best 2 and 3-year-old, it would mean that Miss Woodford would have beaten him at those ages.

Compare the statistical record of Equipoise and Miss Woodford, and you will get quite an impression of the latter's worth.

Miss Woodford, which was traded for the immortal Hindoo—the barter was Hindoo and two mares for Miss Woodford, and $3000—was so masculine looking that trained racing men would refuse to believe her a mare when they saw her at a distance. She was long and powerful, with the sweeping stride of Twenty Grand and, like Edith Cavell, she loved a distance.

Probably she had no such early speed as the masterful Artful, but let it be remembered that at every age at which horses run Miss Woodford held her own with the leaders of the masculine brigade which could be brought against her.

No other mare in American turf history ever made such a record as Miss Woodford; not Beldame, or Firenze, or Imp. No mare ever held her own with colts as well as did she, with the lone exception of Ruthless, a mare of the Civil War period, and therefore not eligible for the 50-year list.

We Johnny-come-latelys have no right to discuss mares like Ruthless, anyway.

McLEMORE SAYS TENNIS LAST STRONGHOLD LEFT IN GENTILITY OF SPORT

By HENRY McLEMORE

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 11.—(UP)—Tennis, now that contract bridge has gone rough-neck, with players throwing left hooks when a finesse fails, and polo players no longer excuse themselves when they faintly condescend an opponent's noggin, is just about the last remaining stronghold of gentility left in sports.

How long it will remain so, however, is problematical, for there have been several national singles out here at this week and last, which would indicate that the ice cream trousseau set is about ready to roll up its sleeves and join the rowdies.

One of these regrettable uprisings involved that eminent doubles player and greyhound fancier from Chicago, George Martin Lott, and a Mr. Frederick Pond, distinguished tournament committee, and ended with both parties threatening to retire to a neighboring en tout cas court and work havoc on the other's profile. The only reason they didn't carry out their threats was that before they could reach the court it had been taken by Ellsworth Vines, the eminent professional tennis player and Mr. Walter Merrill, president of the United States Lawn Tennis association of America, who have been fighting ever since the tournament started.

According to the version I heard, Lott, upon finding the court engaged, suggested that Vines and he play Mr. Hall and Mr. Pond a set of doubles at profile wrecking, and that they make things even. Vines and he would give the officials first service. Nothing came of it, however, as a neutral umpire could not be found, everybody they asked insisted on being granted the privilege of at least three licks a set.

The Lott-Pond feud started when Lott tried to get into the marquee without a ticket. Mr. Pond listened to Lott's explanation that he only wanted to stay a second, and besides hadn't been given enough of his youth to the tennis service of his country to rate an extra pass. Mr. Pond, with admirable firmness, gave Lott what the fight boys call the bum's rush.

The Vines-Hall duel started in much the same way. When Vines entered the marquee Mr. Hall, recalling some nasty things Vines said about the U. S. L. T. A. in a recent magazine article, called for the gardenias and gave him the old owner-bouncer. Dukes were immediately thrown up on all sides.

Much more grievous than the belligerent actions of the players are the officials, however, is the growing rowdiness of the tennis customers. Not so many years ago tennis customers were models of sweetness and light. They applauded good shots with a polite, dignified clap-clap of the hands.

Bad shots were greeted with a quiet, sympathetic, "Tsch! Tsch! Tsch! a pity."

But no more. When a player makes a rotten shot intent ears catch such vulgar expressions as "Throw the bun out!" and "Warm up another guy!" But the greatest change is in the manner in which erring linemen and umpires are handled.

In the past, when goodwill and good manners were knee deep in the tennis stadium, a lineman's misdeeds were greeted with polite silence. Now a mistake is greeted with a sound that originated deep in the heart of the Bronx. And threats to come down there on the court and chase the offender out of sight. Indeed, during the Frank Shields-Vernon Kirby match yesterday, I saw a young man throw his leg over the concrete wall of the stadium and start toward a lineman when he called a ball in that was out by inches. Only quick action on the part of the young man's friends prevented his working bodily harm on the lineman which would have been a shame, for nobody likes to see a man attacked in his sleep.

CHAMPION TO TRY FOR RACE COMEBACK

Expected to feature a "comeback" of Champion Bill Bettedrick, the midjet motor car races in the Santa Ana Bowl tomorrow night will feature several high-lights.

"Blazing Bill" stole the show on the Los Angeles tracks last week and seemed to have his red speedster back in old time form. His main object tomorrow will be to gain some revenge on Curly Mills, Chet Mortemore and Everett Balmer for the thrashings they gave him in recent weeks.

The kids and their pushcars will make their last appearance this week, just long enough to take advantage of the new turns installed for the larger cars. Bumps on the south turn last week cut down the speed of the midjets, and a new fill of dirt has been rolled down hard for the races tomorrow.

MAJORS TO TALK ON WORLD SERIES

Dates, ticket prices and umpires are among the matters to be settled. The series will open in the American league city winning the pennant, probably on Oct. 2 or 3.

OLLERS MEET ALL-STARS TONIGHT

20-30 Club Defeated In Tourney

TO PLAY L. A. CONTINENTAL TEAM MONDAY

Santa Ana's 20-30 club's softball team, defeated last night before 6000 fans in Wrigley Park by the strong Alhambra nine 8 to 1, today looked forward to a game with the Los Angeles Continental Can team, also eliminated in the finals last night, to be played in Santa Ana Bowl Monday night at 8 o'clock for possession of the beautiful consolation trophy offered in the first annual Southern California Softball tournament.

Riverside's flashy team, playing heads-up ball, trounced the Alhambra nine 10 to 2 in the final contest last night after winning a place in the finals by defeating the Continental Can team 5 to 3.

Joe E. Brown, who watched the games in the Santa Ana section last night, presented the perpetual trophy to Riverside and complimented the Santa Ana and Continental Can teams highly for their showing in the contest. Gold balls were awarded members of the winning team, while the second team received silver balls.

Continental Can was the only team in Los Angeles to enter the finals, and the Santa Ana club was the only team in Orange county which went into the final contests. These two teams will battle for the attractive consolation trophy at Santa Ana Bowl Monday night at 8 o'clock, it was announced today by Manager Lyle Kelly of the Twenty-Thirties.

Riverside outclassed the Alhambra team and deserved to win. Santa Ana, decidedly off-form last night, would have been an easy prey to the champions. Riverside won first leg on the handsome perpetual trophy, which must be won three times for permanent possession.

While half of the 18 hits made by the Riverside team in defeating Alhambra came with bunts, the Santa Ana club was not so successful in hunting the fast throwers by Gil Martinez. Moor twirler who had pitched every game for the Moors. Ten Santa Ana men popped out in tries for bunts.

Martinez allowed Santa Ana five hits, struck out 10 batters and was master of the situation throughout the game. Seacord, Santa Ana twirler, got out to a successful start in the first inning and was tapped for two runs. He tightened up after that frame, however, and held the Alhambra scoreless until the sixth, when another run was scored.

Alhambra came back in the seventh inning to score five more runs. Youel replaced Seacord in the seventh after one run had been scored and three men were on base. Maxson batted for Patmor and Acker batted for Garlock in the seventh inning for Santa Ana. Seacord struck out six batters, while Martinez struck out 10. Youel whiffed two men.

Santa Ana scored its lone tally in the final inning. Santa Ana's team was comprised of Lacy, second; Lutz, cf.; Foltz, 2b; Mitchell, 2b; Patmor, 3b; Garlock, 3b; Hankmyer, c; Seacord, p; Youel, p; Maxson and Acker.

Although Santa Ana failed to come through a winner in the tournament, the local team will bring about $200 to local charity funds as its 10 per cent cut on the receipts for winning to tournament officials.

GOLF TOURNEY UPSET: YOUTH BEATS GOODMAN

BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept. 11.—(UP)—The national amateur golf tournament experienced a smash-up upset today when Bobby Jacobson, 16-year-old lad from Deal, N. J., defeated Johnny Goodman of Omaha, former open champion and runner-up in the amateur, two years ago. The score was 1 up in 19 holes.

Although Jacobson started shakily and seemed definitely headed for elimination, he braced nobly after the first few holes and finally took the lead on the 12th. Goodman ran down a 10-foot putt to square the match with a birdie 3 at the 17th. The 18th was halved in par 4's.

Jacobson won the match with a par 4 on the 19th. His second was just short of the green but he pitched up to lie within less than one foot of the cup. Goodman was too strong with his approach putt, and conceded the hole and match. Jacobson is a husky boy with a thick shock of curly hair.

Tony Torrance, of Scotland, only formidable overseas entry, moved ahead with a 2-up victory over Phil Little of Minneapolis. Torrance was one down at the turn but Little faltered on the last few holes.

Another ace advancing was Albert "Scotty" Campbell of Seattle. He's the youngster who holds a twice-won Canadian amateur title. His victim today was P. E. Hall of Philadelphia. The score was 5 and 4.

Another former champion, Jesse Guilford, Boston, was eliminated by Wilson F. Marks of Oakmont, Pa., an end on the 18th. Guilford, a two-time winner of the U. S. C. Freshmen follow on successive Saturdays before the Dons launch their league season with Pomona junior college here Oct. 12.

New line prospects included Bill Dolan, first-string end at Anaheim last year; Charley Roemer, 185-pound tackle from Santa Ana's Saints; Harold Lundblade, bulky tackle from Orange, and a promising teammate, Ernest Danielson; Russell Abbey, from Santa Ana's Saints; and Nelson Rogers.

Miles Norton and Ben Slavin, probable all-league nominees at tackle and end, respectively, returned for their regular posts. Sammy Tucker and Loren Lukens, both weighing around 165 pounds, enrolled. They were the regular guards on the championship eleven. John Henderson, reserve center, and John Thompson were others reporting.

Reporting were Walt Gunther, Frank Kroemer and Paul Perinich, ends; Ray Nowotny, Bob Bell and "Bud" Boyle, tackles; Harold Youel and E. L. Caldwell, Baltimore, defeated Rudolf E. Knepper, New York City, 2 up.

Ruth Feels Record For Homers Safe

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Babe Ruth said today he felt his major league home run record of 60 in one season is fairly safe from the present crop of sluggers.

"The man who breaks my record," said Ruth, "must be able to hit homers in any field, right, left or center, just as I did when I made my mark. He also must be able to hit on the road as well as at home."

"I will admit that when I set by record I hit probably 45 homers to right field but the other 15 were to center or left. What's more, I hit only 29 at Yankee stadium, the other 31 being on the road."

Ruth regards Jimmy Foxx, Athletics first baseman, as having the best chances among the present home run sluggers of tying his record.

COAST LEAGUE TEAMS BATTLE FOR 2ND PLACE

(By United Press)

The battle for second place will occupy the chief interest in the closing days of the Pacific Coast league race—three weeks more—for the Los Angeles club, with a seven-game lead, has the second half pennant sewed up tighter than a surgeon's future.

In the scramble for the runner-up position are four clubs—Seattle; San Francisco; Mission Reds, and Hollywood.

Seattle held on to the second position yesterday by dividing a doubleheader with Hollywood and remaining two games ahead of the rest. Hollywood took the opener, 2-1. In the nightcap two home runs by Berger and another by Mike Hnt helped the Indians to a 7-4 victory. Hollywood took the series, interrupted by rain, three to two.

San Francisco and Oakland divided their Admission Day double bill. The second game went 13 innings before Oakland broke through in a batting rally that gave them a 4-1 win. Sam Gibson registered his 20th win in twirling the Seals to triumph in the opener by a 5-2 count. The Seals took the long series, five to four.

Los Angeles and Sacramento also divided honors. The Angels, with Fay Thomas turning in his 26th victory, won the opener 4-2. Sacramento carried the windup to ten innings before putting across the winning run. The score was 7-6. The series went to Los Angeles, six to three.

Portland and the Missions did not play.

New series are scheduled to start today with the Missions at Seattle; Sacramento at San Francisco; Hollywood at Portland, and Oakland at Los Angeles.

Bill Hawkins, giant halfback and end who was a capable reserve last fall, joined the squad for the first time, as did six other candidates: Lyle Boyle, Bob Clark, Dick Kendall, Ed Evans, Dick Mather and Allen Titen-sor.

Bob Hunsaker and Ed Velarde have applied for positions as managers.

Fred "Porky" Bell, former Saint and Don backfield star, was in suit lending his assistance to Foote. Two U. S. C. Trojans, Al Reboin and Joe Prelinger, also worked out with the preps.

ERRINGTON AND SABELLA START ON H. B. MOUND

Baseball fans from all parts of the county are expected to throng to Huntington Beach tonight to witness the fourth game of the three-out-of-five series between the Huntington Beach Ollers, National Night league champions, and Bill Cole's All-Stars at 8:15.

Encouraged by the 4-0 shut-out victory which "Chico" Sabella hurled for them at the Bowl Friday, the Ollers plan to use their pitching ace again tonight, according to Manager Joe Rodgers, in an attempt to even the series. Cole's All-Stars won the first two engagements by the same score, 4-1, and are in a position to grab the series title with a victory this evening.

In the event Huntington Beach defeats the all-star club, the fifth and deciding struggle will be played Friday.

Errington has been nominated to oppose Sabella on the mound at Huntington Beach. Jim Coates will be ready for relief service.

Replacing "Eeny" Wilcox, who split open the first finger of his right hand in the game Friday, Lemon of Anaheim has been secured to catch for the All-Stars. Outfielder Leavitt Daley, who missed the third contest, promises to report to the Stars tonight, Cole said. No other changes are planned in either lineup.

CARDINALS NOW ONLY 4 GAMES BEHIND GIANTS

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Racing through the east in a driving finish, the St. Louis Cardinals hammered into the stretch today only four games behind the pace-setting New York Giants.

The Giants dropped their third in a row yesterday. Everything has happened to the Giants at the same time. They have hit less than .350 over the past three weeks. Mel Ott, Bill Terry and Joe Moore have struck their worst batting slump.

Yesterday the Giants put on the worst exhibition of fielding they have shown all year, making six errors, including four in the last inning, to give the Pirates a 9-7 win.

Meanwhile St. Louis, behind Dizzy Dean's five-hit pitching, rang up its fifth straight, beating Philadelphia 4-1.

Cincinnati nosed out the Brooklyn Dodgers, 6-5, amassing four runs in the second on five hits.

Chicago and Boston had played their games previously.

With the Yankee idle, Detroit got back a half game on the New York club, extending their lead to four and a half. Hank Greenberg did all the work in a 2-1 win by lacing out two homers. New York was routed out in St. Louis.

Washington scored 7-4 over Chicago when Cliff Bolton, pinch-hitting in the seventh with the bases loaded, smote a homer.

Philadelphia, backed up by the Cleveland Indians, Caster pitching the Athletics to a 9-6 win.

HIGH SCHOOL AT LAGUNA STARTS FALL SEMESTER

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 11.—Vacation days for boys and girls of high school grades came to an end this morning when about 130 students, freshmen, sophomores and juniors, began to take their places in the class rooms set aside for high school use in the Park avenue school building.

The greater number of seniors went to the Tustin union high school from which institution they will graduate next June. Next school year, however, it was explained by Superintendent Simmons, the entire high school enrollment of the city will be kept here.

The elementary school will open next Monday. Superintendent Simmons said that ample housing facilities have been provided for these grades.

From numerous inquiries received at the superintendent's office from prospective home-owners and people planning to spend the winter here, an increase is expected in the enrollment of both high school and grammar school students.

Inquiries at real estate offices revealed that the establishment of a high school here has already stimulated winter rental business and that a number of visitors have indicated a desire to make the art colony their permanent home.

REPORTS SHOW ACTIVITIES OF BEACH SOCIETY

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 11.—Not less than 32 dogs and 47 cats, classified as lost or strayed, some of them beautiful specimens of their respective types, were cared for and given shelter, either in private homes or at the animal shelter in Laguna canyon, during the months of July and August.

It was brought out in reports read at the regular monthly meeting of the Laguna Beach Humane society Monday afternoon at the chamber of commerce offices. Mrs. Helen Carter Tiffany, president of the society, presided.

Objects to proposed planting of trees and shrubbery near the Memorial animal drinking fountain, located on the boulevard, opposite the art gallery, at the north corner of Jahraus Memorial park, were voiced by several members. It being pointed out that the growth of trees and shrubbery would render the fountain invisible to approaching motorists bringing with them their household pets. It was decided to address a communication to the park association asking no planting of any kind be undertaken near the fountain.

Mrs. Tiffany reported that complaints against the serpentarium had been thoroughly investigated, particularly as to the condition of an owl. She added that she had found conditions at the serpentarium quite satisfactory, that the place is operated as an educational exhibit, and that the curator and his assistants are co-operating in every way with the society.

Mrs. May Foster, treasurer, reported two voluntary cash donations to the society, one from Mrs. E. H. Griffith of Arch Beach for support of the animal shelter, and the other from Mrs. Susan Bailey for purchase of lumber needed for alterations and repairs of the shelter.

The two-mile swim will be divided into four classes, the race to be swum simultaneously, but awards made on the basis of divisions. The same divisions will be observed in the kayak race. This was made necessary, it was explained yesterday, in order to permit professional entries and to allow an age qualification. Awards will be made in both events for professionals, for swimmers over 18, for boys under 18, and for women.

FOURTH BIRTHDAY PARTY IS ENJOYED

SILVER ACRES, Sept. 11.—A most enjoyable party was given recently by Mrs. Ray Davis, for her little daughter, Joanne, in celebration of her fourth birthday anniversary. The living room where the small guests were entertained was decorated in green and yellow, the flowers, crepe paper streamers, and balloons in those colors making a gay scene.

Games were played during the afternoon, and later the children were seated in little chairs at low tables and served ice cream and cake, candies, nuts and punch. The table decorations were in yellow and green, as were the favors and caps for each child. At each place were tiny dolls for the girls and small balls for the boys. The birthday cake with its four candles was frosted in yellow.

2 NEW CASES OF PARALYSIS ARE REPORTED

After five weeks of complete quiet, so far as infantile paralysis was concerned, the county health department today faced another period of watchful waiting for developments in the Costa Mesa district, where a child was taken ill with the disease while attending Sunday school.

Jack Hostetter, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Hostetter, formerly of Orange, now residing on Pulverton street, Costa Mesa, was the child whose case was diagnosed as infantile paralysis. He was taken to an isolated ward at the county hospital, where the only other infantile paralysis patient in the county also is under quarantine.

Meanwhile Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer, stated that the Sunday school class attended by the Hostetter boy would be kept isolated in the respective homes of the members, until danger of contagion had passed. A general watch also will be kept upon the community, he said.

The only other patient now in the county is Miss Vivian Beach, 21, nurse of Hermosa Beach, who has been following her profession in various parts of Orange county. She was taken ill last Thursday.

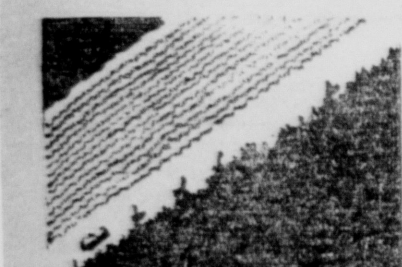

New Yorkers called a bartender in Roger's chop house, Park Row, "The Only William" he was the inventor of the cocktails known as "Angel's Kiss," "Maiden's Prayer," and "Corps Reviver."

STATE FAIR SHOWS PROFIT THIS YEAR

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 11.—(UP)—For the first time in history, California's state fair was on a profitable basis today following the close of the 1934 exposition which saw all attendance records broken.

While final, official figures were not yet available, it was estimated that 456,700 persons attended the fair, as compared to the best previous total of 431,012 made in 1929. As a result of the success of this year's fair, the board of directors started immediate plans for the 1935 show, and voted unanimously to construct a $475,000 horse show arena. Attempts will be made to obtain federal aid for the project.

No figures were available as to the amount of profit made by the fair, but directors were confident income was more than sufficient to defray all expenses.

LEGION POST ELECTION SET FOR THURSDAY

POLICE RADIO FUND CAMPAIGN PROVES VALUE FOR 'Y' IS SET IN 6 MONTHS NEXT JANUARY

More than 3200 broadcasts of an emergency nature, in addition to the many other types of service offered to civil and law enforcement agencies, were made during the first six months of operation of radio station KGHX, the radio police station owned and operated by the county of Orange under the supervision of Sheriff Logan Jackson.

The station is now handling for 14 law enforcement agencies in the county, which have 40 cars equipped to receive broadcasts. According to the first semi-annual report submitted to the sheriff today, covering the period ending August 31, a total of 4545 all-point police teletype bulletins, requests for arrests and other calls for information over the teletype, were broadcast. This information is received over receiving sets in each police station and copied by the desk sergeants to be made available to all of the officers in the county.

The transmitting equipment has functioned very satisfactorily, according to station attaches, and not one broadcast has been delayed during the first six months of service. "Speed and accuracy" has been made the motto of the operators and supervising officials to the benefit of officers and citizens of the entire county.

The greater protection afforded property owners by the rapid agency of the radio, is shown in a number of instances, the report stated. In Santa Ana, Anaheim and Fullerton, for example, the unexpected arrival of police on scenes of disturbances and disorder, often quelled the affairs before damage had been effected, it continued. Scenes of wrecks are covered promptly by roving cars and motorcycles.

Equal speed is shown in the county areas, especially with the farm theft detail police cars operated from the sheriff's office, according to the report. The three stars can cover any point in the county in a very few minutes. In one case, the officers arrived at a ranch, made an arrest and were on the porch of the rancher who had telephoned for the apprehension of fruit thieves before the rancher was fully dressed.

Ranchers have come to rely on the radio service, knowing that officers are within short reach in case of trouble or theft, station officials said. The radio has also strengthened the morale of the officers, it is said, since they know that assistance can be summoned if needed from all surrounding departments. One of the newest departments to use the radio service is the state forest department, which now has three cars which can be reached anywhere in case of fire, flood or other emergency.

The close combination of the state teletype and county radio placed Orange county in the forefront ranks in the nation regarding law enforcement-crime prevention work, it was declared by Sheriff Jackson. He said that farm thefts and other disorders are sure to decrease as the fact is made known that officers have such superior means of communication available. Cooperating with the many other branch stations throughout the state, Orange county is an important link in the prevention of crime.

More than $700,000,000 in gold has been imported into this country since the government started its gold buying policy.

SENSATIONS MARK SENATE PROBE OF MUNITIONS RING

This picture shows the committee taking testimony. Principal figures are, 1, Senator Gerald P. Nye, North Dakota, committee chairman; 2, Stephen R. Shenbush, committee secretary; 3, Henry R. MEMBERS OF CRUISE PARTY VISIT SHIP

A ship tour of inspection, preliminary to the California Citrus-graph cruise-tour to other groves, scheduled for October 22, was shared Saturday by a party of 25 Orange county citrus men and their families. Seven Orange county residents already have made arrangements to join the cruise, these including Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Hankey of San Juan Capistrano; Mr. and Mrs. J. Roy Smith of Laguna Beach and San Juan Capistrano, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Meier of Orange, and their nephew, Robert West, of Sacramento.

Others joining Saturday's inspection, which was followed by tea on board, included Mrs. John Riland and Mrs. F. E. Moore of this city; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Higgins of Orange; Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Syster of Orange; Miss Florence Chambers of Fullerton, recently returned from Mexico, and Miss Eleanor Murray, of Fullerton. Others viewing the ship were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert P. Klotzly and son of this city.

Members of the party were guests of Constance Cruikshank, manager of the World Travel bureau, 305 North Main street, and of D. D. De Weese, of Los Angeles, representative of the Panama Pacific line, whose ship, the SS "Virginia," will carry the voyagers through the Canal by way of Havana to New York this fall.

The trip's chief appeal for local citrus growers will lie in the return journey, which will be routed south, via Philadelphia and Washington, D. C. to the orange groves of Florida, and thence to those of New Orleans, in the Louisiana valley, and of Texas, outside Houston. The Orange county ranchers will then return home by way of the Grand Canyon.

Arrangements have been made to show motion pictures of the proposed trip, with sound effects, the night of Wednesday, September 19 at the A. J. Cruikshank home, Main street, Tustin, for Orange county residents who have expressed an interest in the cruise. The pictures are being brought south from San Francisco for the purpose, and will be open to the public.

COAST GROUP TO MEET AT DOHENY PARK

Accepting the invitation extended by Carl Hankey of San Juan Capistrano, the Orange County Coast association will hold its next monthly at Doheny Park, Tuesday, September 18, according to Dr. C. G. Huston, Costa Mesa, president of the group. Other speakers on the subject of small farms will be added to the program, it was stated.

Dr. Huston has appointed Dan Mulherron of San Clemente, Lew H. Wallace of Newport Beach, and T. B. The meeting will be attended by delegates from all points on the Orange County coast as well as by representatives from Long Beach and San Diego county, it was said. Plans will be discussed for the holding of a joint meeting at Long Beach in the near future, Dr. Huston said.

PENNIES... THAT GO A LONG WAY

A few pennies pay for these necessities and comforts — your cup of coffee, your cream and sugar, all the news of the day. Less than a penny pays for enough gas to cook an entire meal for the average family.

Your gas bill is made up of little fractions of pennies. Hot water for the morning shave, for example, costs so little that you can hardly measure it. A whole succession of shower baths for a family of five costs about two cents if you have an automatic gas water heater. An Electrolux refrigerator keeps food dry, clean and ice-cold at a cost of less than three cents a day.

Here in Southern California natural gas is the most economical of all fuels for cooking, water heating and house heating. For example, automatic water heating with natural gas costs only one-third as much as other modern automatic methods — five cents a day is the average, and you'll use it thousands of times a month.

FEDERATION PRESIDENT ADDRESSES EBELL CLUB

California women, working for one main objective, the attainment at the women's state prison at Tehachapi of a realization of first plans for that institution, is the dream of Miss Josephine G. Seaman, president of California federation of Women's Clubs, as set forth yesterday in her address before Ebell society of Santa Ana Valley.

Ebell officers had planned the necessary business interval with celerity. Routine reports showed that financial and membership affairs were on firm basis, and that various board meetings had sufficed to keep matters running smoothly during vacation months. Chief point of interest was announcement by Mrs. A. J. Cruikshank of party plans of the Ebell Past Presidents' association for the evening of October 5.

Enhancing the interest felt by clubwomen in this social plan was the fact that the grand prize of the evening, a handsome quilt made by the Past Presidents, was on display as background for the guest table at luncheon. This valuable gift will go to some fortunate person at the party, as will a luncheon set with the tender associations of having been made by the only deceased past president, the late Mrs. J. W. Bishop. These gifts will be in addition to bridge and other games to be awarded at the close of play.

Conference Results

One of her first acts in the beginning of her second year in the state presidency, has been to call a conference of state group presidents. These included W.C.T.U., Business and Professional Women, American Association University Women and half a dozen others. Their conference resulted in an agreement to unite in making the Tehachapi matter a main issue in club work of the year.

"A place of punishment is needed, but unmitigated punishment does no good to anyone," Miss Seaman declared as she voiced her plea for support in establishing the objective. She told of presenting the matter at the recent Western Federation session in Portland together with two other state objectives, Federation News, the state club magazine, and continued effort by women to put over certain initiative measures, notably that pertaining to selection of judges.

Various fine musicians of the city under whose study. He closed his talk by expressing the wish that Ebell society might see fit to include a similar program on each year's entertainment course, with a view to encouraging the city's youth in its efforts for cultural achievement.

All of the young artists have appeared in countless programs and all are distinguished by a talent and sincerity that speaks well for the cultural growth of Santa Ana and the community. Their program as developed under Mr. Gustlin's direction, was extremely interesting and a musical triumph.

Talent Displayed

It opened with two numbers by Le Petit Trio, Robert Forney, violin; Esther Vogt, piano and Anna May Archer, cello. Their presentation of "Menuet" from "Orpheus" (Gluck) and "Serenata" by Toselli was smooth and flawless, and was received with warm appreciation by the audience. That same enthusiasm was accorded successful artists, Frederick Garland, whose baritone voice sang great promise and who sang Reichardt's "In the Time of Roses" and "I Love Thee" by Greig; Philip Hood, flutist, for his finished rendering of "Entr' Acte" from "Carmen" (Bizet) and a gay and brilliant "Scherzo" by Anderson; Russel Rowland, pianist with mastery technique and expression, who played "Barcarolle" in G major (Rubenstein) and "Prelude in E Flat Major" (Rachmaninoff).

Flourine Pollock's crystalline soprano was heard in "King of Thule" and "Jewel Song" from Gounod's "Faust," made doubly effective by her quaint "Marguerite" costume and her dramatizing of the role. Georgia Belle Walton's violin numbers, two "Serenades," the first by Rachmaninoff and the second by Chaminade, fulfilled all expectations of her artistry and musicianship, and the program closed with Debussy's "Romance" which brought again to the platform, Le Petit Trio, repeating the triumph of the opening number. Mr. Gustlin was at the piano for the songs, but accompaniment for Philip Hood's flute solos was played by Charles Adams, completing the group of young artists.

Business Details
Program features were so engrossing that Mrs. C. V. Davis, president, and her officers conducted the necessary business interval with celerity.

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Luncheon
Grated cabbage and carrot salad
Toasted Hamburger Sandwich
Clear tea, no sugar.
Calory total, 265.
Run crisp sections of new cabbage through the food grinder, then do the same with scraped raw carrots, or grate them if you wish. Add a speck of minced onion or chopped green pepper and mix to proper consistency with mineral oil mayonnaise. Three heaping tablespoons is the allowance for the diet salad.

Toast a slice of bread on one side, butter the untoasted side and spread it clear to the edge with a thin layer of raw hamburger. Season highly, place under the broiler flame (dot with butter) and broil until the hamburger is cooked (10 minutes).

It seems to me that this wouldn't be a bad Sunday night supper. If you have a table sandwich toaster, it would make these sandwiches to perfection. In that case you'd spread the untoasted bread with the meat and the whole operation would be done at one time. Don't forget that the rest of the family get regulation mayonnaise for their salads, instead of the mineral oil variety.

1-2 tsp. salt.
—Contributed.
Sift flour through cocoanut with finger, mix with the powdered sugar, sifted also, then use the stiffly beaten whites (salt in eggs) to hold the cocoanut together. Form into balls, using the fingers to mould, and bake until a pale brown in a cool oven. (250 degrees or less).

This luscious cake has a scandalous calory total: $300. And what they mean in terms of fat to the individual who thinks to make a meal on cake alone, is plenty!

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY MAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

The hunter said, "Well, little tots, I guess that you've had lots and lots of sleep, and now you should feel fine. How would you like to eat?"

"I am a cook of some renown, so do not turn my breakfast down. Who wants to lend a hand, so I can fix you all a treat?"

"I do," cried Doty. "I'm a cook. No farther do you need to look. Just tell me what we'll have, and I'll get busy right away."

Then Goldy chimed in, "I'm good, too. You'll see! Just tell me what to do. Why, when it comes to cooking, I would rather work than play."

The hunter scratched his chin and then he shouted to the bunch again. "Say, how about some pancakes?" "Great!" the Tinymites replied.

So, to the hunter's house they ran. The pancakes soon were in a pan. "Oh, gee, but they look good," exclaimed wee Duncy, as they fried.

When all had eaten all they could, the hunter said I think I should call forth another animal, to give you tots a show.

"I'll bring a zebra forth, with ease. You'll see him dash out from the trees. My zebra's tame, though most of them are rather wild, you know."

And then he gave a real loud shout and, sure enough, the beast dashed out. "Now, Scouty," said

P-T. A. Board In Plans For Year

TUSTIN, Sept. 11.—The pretty colonial home of Mrs. Walter West on Prospect avenue was the setting for the first business session of the 1934-35 grammar school P-T. A. executive board recently when plans for the ending year's work were outlined. Quantities of roses and other summer flowers were used in decorations throughout the rooms by the hostess, who is president of the organization. Mrs. West was assisted in hostess duties by Mrs. Ruth C. Walker and Mrs. Will Cook.

Tentative plans were made for an orange festival to be held October 6. Further details will be announced regarding the event in the near future.

Refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee were served on individual trays at the conclusion of the business session. Those present, other than Mrs. West, were Mesdames W. A. Woodard, Will Cook, R. Eleanor Palmer, Alma Stevenson, Charles N. Archer, Thomas Shedden, Worth Alexander, William Kellams, Robert C. Korff, Ruth C. Walker and Paul Elzoid.

MAKE THE MOST OF NEW MOVIE FARE

Moving picture fare is showing a considerable improvement. The shows once again are appealing to people who were too discriminating to tolerate the same old romantic, sex-ridden story told over and over again and dished up as something new and intriguing by the device of a new cast and a few new devices. But the situation is changing and the discriminating once again are becoming "movie conscious." If they aren't they should be, for only by patronage and "talking it up" can they hope to encourage the producers and the local managers, who are the first to respond to the will of the patrons, in this promising sequence of pictures which we now are noting.

In recent weeks, we have had "Treasure Island" and "Peck's Bad Boy." They were followed by other good pictures. And this week we have "The World Moves On" and the forepart of next week "One Night of Love," to be followed by the very excellent "House of Rothschild."

(We wish the titles would take on a little more tone, it embarrasses one's recommendations.) "One Night of Love" introduces some gorgeous singing. It is opera with the boring quality removed. At any rate, for those who won't "sit through" an opera, it introduces the songs and settings from the climax of opera. The story is romantic. The background has elements of novelty. The music is the sensation.

"The World Moves On" is a picture which carries a strong lesson of peace. It is the story of the members of a family who pledged themselves, in 1825, to devote themselves to the family and the development of the cotton business. It had branches in France, in Germany, and in England. Descendants of those who originally pledged their devotion are caught up in the maelstrom of the war and cousins are fighting against cousins. It is painful and pointed. And then, bringing the story more up to date than "Cavalcade" is the debacle of 1929 and 1930. The young leader of the family is dealing in high finance. He is making millions, he is devoting his full attention to that matter. After the smash he rediscovers the real values of life. It is an excellent picture and deserves support from the public.

VARIED INFORMATION FROM EXAMINATION OF TRAGEDY

As to the cause of the fire which destroyed the ill-fated ship, Morro Castle, and sent nearly two hundred of her passengers and crew to a terrible death, there is a growing uncertainty. The first report had it lightning, now the testimony of passengers and crew is terribly conflicting. Certainly there was extreme drinking as was testified, there were many drinking parties that had not broken up from an all night revelry and very clearly these parties were throwing lighted cigarettes and possibly matches into waste baskets and other inflammable material. Some of these refused to desist when ordered by members of the crew. The testimony of some of the officers is that it must have been of a deliberate incendiary character. Somebody committed arson, so they say. It should be remembered, however, in considering testimony that the officers will naturally desire to have it appear that the cause or causes was beyond their direction or control. Arson would maintain this. The establishment of hilarity and carelessness and foolhardiness of passengers as the cause, would place the responsibility directly on the officers.

There certainly is a difference of opinion in regard to the action of the crew in relation to the passengers. Captain Warms and officer Hackney, first mate, differ radically in their testimony as to behavior of the crew—Hackney declaring that the crew was flustered, bewildered, and confused in the fighting of the fire. Captain Warms, while praising them, did admit that some men had been fired for drunkenness. In any case there are some important lessons to be learned and to be put into operation by ship corporations and this will have to be done to restore the faith of people in the control of ships.

One cannot help recalling, however, that the revelry and drinking that was going on, on the night that the Titanic collided with the iceberg has a marked similarity in its recital, as we recall, with the description of what was taking place on this vessel as it met its doom. May it have been possible that with assured soberness of the crew at least, a different story in each case may have been told?

AS MAINE GOES

The returns from Maine at this writing do not indicate that there has been a change in the sentiment of the people in respect to the national administration and the New Deal such as was indicated by the criticism and newspaper articles.

The democratic governor of Maine was re-elected by a larger majority than he was two years ago. Particular stress was laid on this fight by the campaigners on both sides. His opponents urged his defeat as a repudiation of the national administration. Senator Hale who has been representing Maine for the last 18 years in the United States Senate as a Republican was re-elected but his majority was cut down from eighty thousand to two or three thousand. As to the exact number there is an uncertainty at this writing.

It appears that two out of the three congressmen in Maine were carried by the Democratic candidates and one by the Republican. If it be true that "as Maine goes so goes the nation," it would indicate a like return of most of the democratic congressmen throughout the country. Undoubtedly the administration will have a very strong working majority in both houses.

It is very frequently the case that in the congressional campaign in the mid period of a national administration, as this is, there has been a great re-action adversely to the administration and a change in the other direction two years later. Maine's vote would indicate that the people have not gone in that direction.

OLD NEWSPAPER DISCOVERED

In Rome the other day the daily newspapers reprinted stories found in a newspaper eighteen hundred years old. The old newspaper was found at Ostia, the ancient Roman seaport, by the archaeologist Guido Calza. It is said that the newspaper carried columns on sports, religious notices, and reports of deaths, also war correspondence and congressional news.

Newspaper history will have to be rewritten. "Way back when" no longer means a hundred years. Now it means eighteen hundred years. It is interesting to know that newspaper history goes back so far. It is equally interesting to know that the same interests absorbed the people of Ostia, eighteen hundred years ago, as concern us in this country today. News is news, yesterday, today, and tomorrow.

THE PIG ON THE RISE

Have you noticed the rise of the lowly porker? Pork today is in a class with turkey and duck, and may in time reach the status of canary bird tongues and such delicacies. The smart diner-out must note this change, otherwise he might suspect that some society hostess was trying to "do him cheap" when he found a pork chop on his plate. The pork chop ranks the smartest dinner party now. In fact the hostess who has to watch her expenditures no longer will aspire to pork roast or pork chops, and a bacon garnish is almost in a class with truffles.

Who would begrudge the pig his day and hour! Let them sit down before a perfect roast of pork and they will say he deserves all the respect he has achieved.

The Taint of Sport Gambling

Christian Science Monitor

"I bet you!" How frequently this expression pops into speech! "You bet" has become an American synonym for the affirmative in reply to questions. "Put up, or shut up" ends most arguments. As idioms these phrases may seem harmless, but idiom has its roots in the thoughts and customs of a people.

With too many nowadays everything is a gamble. People bet on anything—stock and grain prices, differences of opinion as to facts, whether the next passing auto license will have a last number of odd or even, or a fly will within ten seconds return to a bald man's head.

Most common of all, however, and perhaps the main source of this problem of modern society, is gambling on sporting events. One needs only to observe how many of those around him at lunch are studying racing forms; or keep his ears open in the elevator of his office building for conversation about baseball pools.

Strictly speaking the very word gambling itself implies money staked on the outcome of sporting contests. Gambling thus closely associated with sport has demoralized many phases of beneficial activity. Those branches of sport not degraded have been protected only by the most determined surveillance.

Worse than its effect on sports, however, is the influence upon those who indulge. They yield to a desire to profit at the expense of others, to get from another money without giving an equivalent for it. It may seem innocent to bet a dollar with a friend on the outcome of some contest, but the seed is there. And what is to prevent such a seed cultivated, from growing?

Consider the character of those who gamble most, the professionals, who have abandoned all productive endeavor. Are they not everywhere known as leeches on honest endeavor? Yet gambling has become so common their standards of behavior are accepted and imitated, and a notorious gambler may mingle with honorable society.

Desire to gamble is recognized by penal authorities as the driving force behind bank robberies, swindles and kidnappings. The criminal might earn in useful work the modest sums needed for ordinary living, but gambling requires large sums. The police chief of one great city has testified that he protected a few gambling houses, having an understanding with the proprietors who could be depended on to act as informers. The first place the average criminal goes with his loot is a gambling house, he said.

The association of gambling with sporting events has contributed to its popular acceptance, to the general unconsciousness of its evil. It has so tainted modern thought that many otherwise honest and logical persons cannot see why it is evil.

To escape eventual condemnation, sport must cease to send out this poison into mass thought. In fact, sport to be real sport needs to be purged of the gambling taint. A beginning should be made.

Money Back Marriages

The Oakland Tribune

Western commercialism has invaded the old Chinese custom of match-making. From time immemorial, friends and relatives have "arranged" marriages for their families, but now a regular matrimonial bureau is established in Peking, with a prospectus and a "money-back guarantee."

The fee is $1.75, with the assurance that it will be returned if the "clients" are not satisfied after six months. But if a marriage turned out to be a dud, would $1.75 balance the marital budget? Or are the respective spouses to be "returned to sender" in exchange for the refund?

Certain members of our own enlightened civilization may look a bit wistfully at the low cost of marital dissatisfaction in China. Alimony demands, "heart balm" awards, alienation of affections suits usually come quite a bit higher than $1.75.

But the Chinese are beginning to be a progressive people. They'll probably learn to be forward-looking. In that day the dissatisfied bride or bridegroom will no longer say: "I don't like you any more, but I've got my $1.75 back, so we'll call it square." They'll know what the traffic will bear—and collect accordingly.

A Day's Work

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

BACKING UP CECIL

On reading Mr. De Mille's assertion that the "speakers" do not turn urchins to crime.

On hearing that going to "speakers" Is turning young urchins to crime, I center my gaze On the faraway days, The era of once-on-a-time, When I went to the old-fashioned thrillers, Where villains played tag with the law; Yet it wasn't the crooks With their sinister looks But the heroes who got the applause.

We all of us hated that villain In spite of his swagger and dash, We detested his leers And his lip-curling sneers. We loathed his big dark blue mustache. Every kid in the gallery jeered him. When, caught in a trap, he recoiled, And cried with a hiss, "You shall suffer for this!" Or merely said bitterly, "Folled!"

But ah! how we cheered for the hero; We hope that some day we might be. If we tried to be good As all little boys should. Such a noble young person as he. And I fancy the kids at the "speakers" Their eyes on the hero will cast With the same sort of thrill Which my soul used to fill In the glorious days of the past.

PARAGRAPHS

By Robert Quillen

It takes surprisingly little to support a family of five, if you're doing it with a pencil and paper. In one Southern district, families on the relief roll get 25 cents a week. Think of it! Not enough for their calomel. A free land is one where the laws are made by representatives and remedied by the courts.

True, there would be jobs for all if women quit working. Or if men took the job of housekeeping. It isn't hard to maintain a spirit of humility if you first demonstrate your ability to lick those who take advantage of it.

YOU DON'T HEAR MANY SMOKING-CAR STORIES NOW. PEOPLE SAVE THEM TO SELL TO THE "SOPHISTICATED" MAGAZINES.

It isn't loyalty, however, to support the leader in a dumb scheme that will run him. You can tell the educated. None but the ignorant have a satisfactory explanation of everything. Of course the New Deal won't substitute some other motive for the profit motive. There isn't any other.

AMERICANISM: Growling about being "regimented" by the New Deal; joining a secret order and obeying a self-appointed boss.

As we understand it, the glands are defective if the subject is ornery enough to need an alibi.

You can tell the educated. None but the ignorant have a satisfactory explanation of everything. Of course the New Deal won't substitute some other motive for the profit motive. There isn't any other.

RIPLY'S COLLECTION CONTAINS ALMOST EVERY UNHEARD-OF THING EXCEPT A GOLD-HOARDER IN JAIL.

Sectionalism: Judging your own section by its best people and others by their worst. Too many people think patriotism consists in saying: "Sic 'em."

There's one nice thing about dull times. You don't see go-getters figuring on restaurant table cloths. You are mentally free if you don't think yourself at fault because a dull "classic" seems dull.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLEN FRANK

THE O'SHAUGHNESSY PLAN

Colonel Michael O'Shaughnessy, organizer and director of the League for Social Justice, comments pointedly, in The Commonwealth of August 24, on the readjustments in the NRA program that seem essential to him.

This is a problem with which Mr. Roosevelt is now wrestling and is one that deserves the widest discussion.

Colonel O'Shaughnessy believes that business leadership, by and large, has not played the game under NRA in a manner that makes its present program a feasible one. The manifest objective of the NRA was to restore mass purchasing power without raising prices to a point that would nullify the raising of wages that might be accomplished. The net result has been, as Colonel O'Shaughnessy sees it, that business leadership has been so intent upon eliminating competition and raising prices that it has not done much to increase mass purchasing power.

This reluctance of business leadership to follow through on the initial theory of NRA led the government to apply compulsion, but, Colonel O'Shaughnessy suggests, this compulsion has not done the trick. And he does not like compulsion anyway. "Compulsion by government weakens the muscles of industrial self-government," he says, "and actually provides a screen by which the lawless element in industry thrives."

Some permanent reconstruction of our industrial order, he thinks, must be worked out within the framework of the NRA during the final year of its trial period, and he offers the following suggestions:

First, he suggests that "without a disruptive change in the present set-up of code authorities, a Super-council of nine should be created in each of the major industries, composed of three representatives of management or capital, three representing workers in each industry, and three representing the public." He would have this Super-council determine the broad lines of policy for each of the major industries, fix just prices for commodities, living wages for workers, and fair return for the actual capital employed.

Second, he suggests that three members from each of these Super-councils in the major industries, representing respectively capital and labor and the consuming public, should together form a Supreme Council of all the major industries. This Supreme Council would have as its function the elimination of destructive competition between industries, the insurance of uniform application of the collective bargaining clause of the NIRA, of fair return for capital, and of protection for the consumer. The deliberations of this Supreme Council he would have public and its acts subject to veto by the President.

Third, he suggests that the workers in each of the major industries be organized in industrial unions, with such sub-unions for the various crafts as might prove necessary.

This, he thinks, would simplify matters and make for genuine self-government instead of federal policing of business and industry. His conception of price fixing involves the setting of a maximum and a minimum price, the maximum price to protect the consumer and the minimum price to protect the producer against unfair competition, but with a zone of difference within which competition could legitimately function.

WHAT FOR?

"Bruce, I've arranged with the head of your school for you to take a couple of extra courses next year. I thought French literature and history of music ought to be good for you. They'll be on your schedule next year?"

"What for?"

"What do you mean? I want you to have a background—culture."

"I have a full day now and I don't see the good of half of it. Now you go and add two more subjects. What's it all about? Why should I spend my whole time on such stuff if it isn't going to do me any good? I'd like to have a little time to draw my breath and see where I'm going."

"As if a boy of your age would know, could know, where he was going. You ought to be thankful that you have parents to look out for you."

"I was just wondering, mother, if you knew yourself. If you do, just tell me. What is my education for?"

"Don't be silly. If you're trying to be smart you are wasting your time. You're going to be educated, so that when you're grown up, you won't have to stay in a corner with your finger in your mouth."

"So studying all that junk is to keep me from putting my finger in my mouth. You know, I have an idea that I could manage that without going to all that bother. In fact, I've made up my mind to take a short cut. I'm going to drop a few of the trimmings next year, take time out to see what is happening down the street."

"What are you talking about? Speak English. And don't try to be smart. I'm not joking."

"Neither am I. In plain English then, I am going to try to get an education that will be useful for me tomorrow when I set out to live on my own. What I am getting now might have done for my grandfather but it is not going to help me understand the New Deal, the economic balance of the world, my place in industry, in society generally. I've got to live under a new scheme so I've got to have the education that will let me take a good poke at it at least."

"What are you going to do? What awful thing—"

"Not so awful. I've been doing a little of it now but I need more time for it. I have to attend labor meetings, study the strikes that are on, get into things. I've got to have time to read the papers and attend interesting meetings of workers and employers. I've got to listen to the politicians. Sticking inside school isn't going to get me anywhere. Unless I get out and go along with the people who are on their way I'm going to be left in the dust and that doesn't appeal to me exactly."

"We'll talk this over with your father. The next thing we know you'll be arrested or something and have your name in the papers. You're a schoolboy and, oh dear, what are we going to do with you?"

Better leave him alone. Better allow him time for the study of life as he suggests. School is essential but life is imperative. Knowledge becomes working wisdom only when it is applied to everyday needs. The boys and girls must have time and opportunity to study this new day and its deals at first hand. Don't be afraid. Give them a chance to prepare themselves for what is coming to them.
